1. In early September 1953, source observed that the runway and taxiways at Goetzendorf (P 49/X 57) airfield had concrete covers. The joints which had been filled with tar were in need of repair and partially covered with grass. The taxiway parallel to the Ebergassing (P 49/X 57) - Goetzendorf road had been demolished. All other lands seemed to be serviceable.<sup>1</sup>
2. Between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. on 21 September, no aircraft were observed at Trauersdorf airfield. There was no change in the status of the radar station, which consisted of a SCR-602-type set and a Fishnet-type set, and the rod antennae.<sup>2</sup>
3. Between 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on 21 September, source could not observe any indications of an intended re-erection of the radar station in the Oggau (P 48/X 65) area or of an intended re-occupation of the M.H. Seehof, next to the Oggau railroad station.<sup>3</sup>
4. In September, a new tank truck with a capacity of 3,500 liters was observed in a Soviet-occupied garage in Vienna (P 49/X 49). A similar tank truck had been previously observed at Aspern (P 49/X 49) airfield.<sup>4</sup>
